

Peter Liberman, Professor of Political Science at Queens College, spoke on "Just Deserts in Iraq: Vengeance for 9/11 and American Public Support for the Iraq War" on January 24, 2008, at the Mershon Center.

Peter Liberman spoke to about 50 people on January 24, 2008, at the Mershon Center. During his talk, Liberman explored the reasons for early public support of the Iraq War, and the attitudes of country singers like Darryl Worley, whose song "Have You Forgotten" extols American values in the aftermath of Sept. 11.